Allied Forces Engaged In Bitter Hand-to-Hand Battle

TENTH CORPS COMBAT TEAM IS ENCIRCLED

Tokyo, Feb. 1.—(P)—Allied forces in bitter hand-to-hand fighting crunched ahead as much as three miles today in western Korea, but a French-American combat team was trapped by superior Chinese forces in another sector of the warfront.

There were increasing signs that the eight-day-old United Nations limited offensive had slammed into the main Red defense line south of the Han river. The Han flows along the southeastern outskirts of Seoul.

A Tenth Corps spokesman said the encircled regiment had been fighting off two enemy regiments for hours, in close combat. He would not predict its chances of breaking out of the trap.

Bayonet-wielding Turkish troops made Thursday's biggest advance, through rugged and muddy hill country against an enemy "firmly dug in," a briefing officer said.

Forward elements of this force drove to a point less than 4,000 yards south of Anyang, on the road to Seoul. Anyang is about nine miles northwest of Suwon and 11 miles south of the former South Korean capital. A few miles eastward, an American tank-led task force jabbed 2½ miles into Wonchon, but then withdrew. Wonchon is three miles east of Suwon.

The battlefront now extends roughly along an east-west line five miles north of Suwon. At one point it is within nine miles of Seoul.

Near the junction of the western and central fronts French and American elements were reported (Turn to Page Ten)

Third Atomic Test In Week Set Off at Sprawling 5,000 Square Mile Range In Nevada

Las Vegas, Nev., Feb. 1.—(P)—The third atomic blast in a week lit up the pre-dawn sky northwest of here today. One witness described it as "like a huge flash gun" which photographers use.

An atomic energy spokesman confirmed that it was the third atomic test at the sprawling 5,000 square mile test range near here. This makes it No. 12 in the list of atomic explosions set off since the first at Alamogordo, N. M., July 16, 1945.

The AEC spokesman would give no details of what sort of test took place. There has been much speculation that the government is testing a variety of atomic weapons besides the bombs which hit Hiroshima and Nagasaki in 1945 and brought the Japanese war to an end.

Most witnesses agreed that the flash today was about equal to Saturday's, but not so strong as Sunday's.

There was little excitement along the brightly-lit streets where gambling runs wide open all night.

At one spot, a man ran into the street crying: "It's the A-bomb."

But otherwise business went on much as usual.

Police said that a half-hour after the blast they had received no calls from citizens, already taking this sort of thing in stride.

Many people said they felt the vibration but did not see the flash.

A hotel employee said Sunday's detonation blew in a pair of swinging doors from the street, but today's did not.

One man described it as "more of a ricocheting roar than a blast." The area between here and the bombing range, which starts some 40 miles away, is ringed by mountains.

A reporter said "there was a quick, blinding flash which outlined the hills north of town. The flash tapered off to a rosy hue and then disappeared. Six minutes later there was a rumbling noise which shook houses and rattled dishes."

The flash occurred at 5:48 a. m., Pacific standard time.

Some 300 miles west at Los Angeles an observer reported seeing a flash in the sky to the east at about the same time.

The 10th and 11th blasts occurred last Saturday and Sunday here, both shortly before 6 a. m. The Sunday detonation was much more intense, awakening many residents of this gambling and resort community.

Surveys determined that there was no radiation damage from the weekend tests. The entire area was monitored carefully.

Speculation as to what is being tested here includes atomic guided missiles and atomic artillery shells. The AEC has declined to discuss the matter.

In Washington, the atomic energy commission declined to discuss the blast in any way.

SHIPYARD TRAGEDY

Belfast, Northern Ireland, Feb. 1.—(P)—Sixteen shipyard workers were killed and 48 others injured yesterday when a ship's gangway collapsed. It was the worst shipyard disaster in Belfast history.

The men were crowding ashore after working on the Argentine ship Juan Peron, being equipped as a whale factory ship. The wooden gangway parted with a loud crack hurling them 50 feet. Many of the injured suffered broken legs.

PLAN RAID DRILL

Pittsburgh, Feb. 1.—(P)—The first air raid drill in a major downtown office building since World War II sent 2,500 office workers scurrying to refuge zones in the 33-story Koppers building yesterday. The drill lasted 12 minutes.

This permitted an undetermined number of increases to groups or individuals in that class.

CRUSADERS BUSY

Greensburg, Feb. 1.—(P)—Crusading ministers have a date to discuss vice and gambling next Monday with District Attorney Alexander Sculco of Westmoreland county. A delegation from the United Commission for Social Action in southwestern Pennsylvania, representing 700 churches, wants to seek ways and means "to clean up some of the rackets in the area."

FLIGHT NURSE FROM KANE IS COMMENDED

Tokyo, Feb. 1.—(P)—Three Pennsylvania Air Force nurses were among those commended yesterday by Lt. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer, Far East Air Force Commander, for their services in the Korean war.

Flight nurses have been attending sick and wounded Allied personnel evacuated from Korea and bases in southern Japan to hospitals in the Tokyo area since the early days of the war. One of them was killed during these operations in the crash of a transport plane.

Most of the flight nurses have previous war experience in air evacuation. Lt. Wanda Gustafson, of Kane, Pa., saw active service in the Solomon, New Caledonia and the New Hebrides during the Second World War. Lt. Jane B. Murphy, Milton, Pa., served in the China-Burma-India theater. Chief Nurse, Capt. Lucile C. Slattery, Philadelphia, is a veteran of the European war theater.

Most of the remaining drivers, he explained, are people who do not use their car constantly. They are content to send in for their permits later, he said.

Drivers who have submitted their applications but have not yet received them need not worry, Messner said.

"It takes time to deliver them through the mail," he added.

Messner warned, however, that state law forbids anyone from driving from now on who does not have 1951 license.

Asked if this means they could not drive even though they had applied for their license renewal previous to Jan. 31, Messner said "Yes."

Messner said anticipated difficulties arising from the destruction of operating license records for 1947, 1948 and 1949 have not materialized. The records were destroyed from a broken water main last November.

Drivers who wished to revive cards which had become inactive during those years were able to furnish their plate numbers and thus to obtain 1951 operating privileges, he said.

The acting secretary warned that motorists who failed to meet the semi-annual car inspection deadline by midnight last night are liable to arrest and a fine.

REUNION AT DINNER: One of the highlights of the annual Sports Boosters dinner at the Marconi Outing Club last evening was the presence of Ted Shattuck and Keith Vesling, two former High School luminaries, now attending Penn State, who were guests of the party along with "Rip" Engle, coach of the college and principal speaker. Left to right they are: Engle, Coach J. B. Leidig, Shattuck and Vesling. (Photo by Coyle).

Termed by all who attended "the best yet" last night's fifth annual dinner of the Warren Sports Boosters held at the Marconi Outing Club was attended by more than 200 enthusiastic guests and sports fans.

The high point on the program was the appearance of Charles A. "Rip" Engle, head football coach at Penn State. No one in the crowd was disappointed in the forthright and able remarks Mr. Engle hammered home to the lettermen and Sports Boosters in his sincere and capable talk.

Warning his audience against the "wrong kind of quarter-backing" Mr. Engle stated that constant team victories were not the sole object of the game of football. He stressed the emphasis of winning as "part of the game" but said that there are lots of heroes on losing teams just as there were heroes at Bunker Hill, Bataan and in present day Korea.

"There are many compensatory things in today's game of football," he said. "The value of team spirit, the art of pulling together and the constant watching to see which way the ball will bounce are all factors which make for success, in football as well as in the game of life." And, he concluded, "sincerity on and off the playing field is another factor that will do much to turn the lessons of football into lessons you can take into your every day life."

The speaker also described some of the over-emphasis which one now sees infiltrating into the college game and warned his listeners that some form of "sanity code" must prevail if the game is to continue to belong to the college and the students.

In closing he pictured a line which he said he liked to envision "on his side of the field." It comprised Loyalty and Spirit as the ends; Cooperation and Determination at tackles; Sacrifice and Unselfishness at guards; and Belief in ones Religion at the key center post. With such a line you boys will find peace of mind which, after all, amounts to more than any other factor of life.

He concluded his sincere and interesting talk by showing several reels of movies of the Penn State-Rutgers game which Penn State won last fall by coming from behind to win 18-14.

Robert Young of the High School Faculty gave the invocation and then followed the serving of an excellent and ample dinner by the Lewis Catering Service with dinner music by Orrie Beebe and his Hammond Organ. The meeting was opened by Ray J. Reed, president of the Warren Sports Boosters.

After thanking his officers and committees for the help they had given him during the year he called on Toastmaster William E. Rice.

Mr. Rice capably "carried the ball" from this point. In his own apt and humorous manner he thanked those who had helped make the dinner a success. Among the list who contributed to the evening's enjoyment he named Russell Hanson who for the past five years has supervised and designed the table decorations, he (Turn to Page Ten)

Charles Town, W. Va., Feb. 1.—(P)—State Police reported one person killed and at least eight hospitalized and several homes damaged early today by a dynamite explosion felt 15 miles away.

Cpl. C. A. Hehle said 15 tons of dynamite exploded in a trailer-truck about four miles from Charles Town, just near the Maryland-West Virginia line.

None of the escaping men was dressed adequately for the freezing weather and snowstorm they met on the outside. All were bareheaded. At least one had a gun.

Three of the group fled afoot. The nine others apparently sped away in a car belonging to one of the guards they beat in a 15-minute chase.

There is no place for these patients, Dr. Hayden H. Donahue of the hospital staff said, because of overcrowded conditions.

The fugitives, all charged with felonies, and a mental patient—later recaptured—overpowered four attendants in their break.

Police threw up roadblocks and issued a general alarm. Residents of the area pulled their shades and locked their windows.

General Warns Decision Of Lawmakers May Determine The Future of Civilization

Washington, Feb. 1.—(P)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said today western Europe has "the spirit to resist" any Russian aggression and declared the United States must help build the necessary defense forces.

As to whether that job can be done, Eisenhower was supremely confident in an address to an informal joint meeting of the senate and house in the library of congress auditorium.

He called on the lawmakers to have faith in America in this "decade of decision" and in the leadership this country can provide. He said this, in turn, will inspire the same kind of leadership among "our friends abroad."

Eisenhower asked this question: "Why then are we frightened of dictatorial governments?"

He said the one thing such governments have is unity of purpose, but it is "enforced by a gun in the hand."

Repeatedly, Eisenhower emphasized the proposed build up of forces in Europe is aimed at keeping the peace. He said the United States must devise a program for security that can be supported for the next 20 to 30 years.

The cost of peace is going to be high, he said, "but the cost of total war is the destruction of our civilization."

Eisenhower, speaking only from notes, addressed the lawmakers for an hour.

Eisenhower contended the United States had no choice except to stand with Europe in building a defense force.

Solemnly, Eisenhower had told the lawmakers earlier that their decisions on defense cooperation with western Europe may determine the course of civilization and whether free governments will continue to exist.

Just back from a tour of Europe Eisenhower said there is no question of western Europe's desire to resist aggression.

"There is a spirit to resist," he said. "There is a determination to do their part—to take the risk."

He said, too, that Europe's greatest need now is not American soldiers but equipment which he said must be delivered in quantity and quickly.

Lake Success, Feb. 1.—(P)—The United Nations assembly today voted overwhelmingly to brand Communist China as an aggressor in Korea. The vote was 44 to 7.

The negative votes were cast by the five Soviet Bloc countries and India and Burma. Nine countries were listed as abstaining, but one of them—Saudi Arabia—asked to be recorded as not participating.

Approval of the U. S. proposal was taken for granted, but there had been some fear that the Soviet bloc countries, possibly with some Asian and Arab support, might drag the debate on indefinitely.

The United Nations assembly overrode Soviet opposition today and voted to apply the "gag" rule on the American proposal to indict Communist China as an aggressor in Korea.

Member Of State Hospital Staff Is Kiwanis Speaker

Dr. Jack Wolford, member of the staff of the Warren State Hospital at North Warren, delivered an interesting talk on the subject "The Normal Personality," at the luncheon meeting of the Warren Kiwanis Club at the YWCA activities building Wednesday noon. Highlights of the discourse were as follows:

In any discussion of the normal personality it is necessary to realize that adjustment is only a relative matter. The difference between normal and abnormal is a quantitative rather than qualitative one.

Our adjustment depends on our personality. Our ability to adjust will vary with a constellation of environmental factors. A perfectly adjusted man would be able to withstand any impact from the environment without resorting to a more childish level of adjustment but actually no one has a perfect personality and we all probably have our breaking point.

The personality is made up of three parts:

1. Basic drives.
2. The ego or executive branch.
3. Our conscience - parents or surrogates.

The relative strength of these three basic divisions result from the interaction or heredity and environment. The environment is felt to be the more important and is the sculptor who molds the "hereditary clay".

The personality demands protection from anxiety and this is obtained by avoiding, forgetting, or disguising objectionable conflicts. The executive branch or ego uses the mechanisms of repression, sublimation, rationalization, compensation, reaction, formation, etc. to do this.

Normality was discussed from the standpoint of a balance of personality factors and maturity, adequate functioning in relation to environmental strains and in the adult's ability to give up immediate pleasures for long-range gains. It was emphasized there is no clear-cut definition for normal adjustment but that a person who enters into the happenings of society and interacts in an acceptable way with relative freedom from conflict in his own mind is well adjusted.

A normal personality is usually free from conflicts. Its conscience and drives are in harmony. Available intelligence is effective. The personality accepts not only reality in the external world but the reality within himself. It accepts the responsibility for himself, has ability to love, work, play, become angry, etc., when the situation calls for it. He is consistent, yet flexible.

RIFLE COACHES HERE

Junior Rifle Club coaches of the district are holding an informal discussion meeting at three o'clock this afternoon in Warren High School in an effort to work out plans for some inter-club activities.

RUBBISH FIRE

The emergency truck from Central station was called to the rubbish dump on the island at the rear of the bus barns yesterday afternoon about three o'clock where a rubbish fire had been started. It is a little early in the season for fires at that point, a place which usually results in many calls during the summer months.

PLANS PAPER DRIVE

Members of Girl Scout Troop No. 8 at Starbrick have completed plans for a paper collection to be staged beginning at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning. They urge all residents of the area to cooperate by having their paper and magazines bundled and on the porch to be picked up when the girls arrive.

EMERGENCIES TREATED

Andrew Arnold, 129 N. South street, employed by Masterson Transfer, was treated at Warren General Hospital yesterday for injuries to his left wrist. He was discharged after bandaging. James Gordon, 6, of 12 Grant street, was treated for a fracture of the right arm, sustained in a fall at home. He was discharged after a cast was applied.

MINISTERIAL SPEAKER

Dr. S. P. Weaver, Jamestown, who is superintendent of the Erie Conference of Evangelical United Brethren churches, will be guest speaker for the meeting of the Warren County Ministerial Association, scheduled at 10 a. m. Monday at the YMCA. Dr. Weaver is described as an interesting speaker with a helpful message and all ministers are urged to be in attendance.

WARNING ISSUED

The local Selective Service Board reports it has received information that some 18 year old young men have not registered as required by law, and remind that this is a violation of Section 12 of the regulation and punishable by imprisonment for not more than five years or a fine of not more than $10,000, or both. In addition any violation of the law must necessarily be reported by the local Selective Service board to the State Headquarters at Harrisburg.

day by American Forest Products Industries, Washington, D. C. Although leading in the number of Tree Farms certified, the Keystone State was outranked in another category—the number of acres under certification—by neighboring West Virginia.

With 123 Tree Farms under certification, compared to 63 for 1949, Pennsylvania now has 112,738 acres of forestland dedicated to the growing of timber crops. Pennsylvania started 1950 with 69,244 certified acres.

"Pennsylvania's excellent record," said J. C. McClellan, chief forester for the Washington organization, "has materially helped boost the nation's total to near the 23 million-acre mark, highest in history." There are now nearly 3,000 Tree Farms certified in 29 states.

Pennsylvania's program is sponsored at the state level by the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Forestry Association.

Since the American Tree Farm program began in 1941 sponsors in ten states have cancelled certificates of 131 owners whose holdings totalled 250,376 acres because of change of ownership or for failure to maintain standards of protection and forest management required.

Slate Meeting Of Area School Heads To Debate Jointure

Corry Journal: Arrangements are being made by school superintendents of Erie and Warren counties from Concord and Wayne townships, Columbus, Elgin, Spring Creek and Corry to attend a dinner meeting, tentatively scheduled for February 13, to discuss the proposed jointure of the six districts.

The action developed as the result of a meeting Monday night in which Corry school board members met to discuss a survey of the local district's needs which brought the recommendation from Hunter, Caldwell and Campbell that six districts form a joint board.

The architectural firm, which during the past summer surveyed the local problem, came up with a recommendation for an $848,000 addition to the present Junior High building with the new section to be used as a joint school for the six districts.

During Monday night's meeting opposition or at least a difference of opinion to the survey's recommendation developed from board members and also Supt. Lawrence Douglas. As a direct result of this the board moved to ask Hunter, Caldwell and Campbell to submit facts and figures on plans, costs and location of an entire new Joint Junior-Senior High School with the understanding that the present Junior High building could then be utilized for elementary grades and possibly the Fairview and Washington schools being abandoned.

Facts and figures prepared by the superintendent placed Corry's estimated tax increase for an $848,000 addition at anywhere from 1.36 mills to 2.23 mills, depending upon the method finally reached by the proposed joint board in how the load should be apportioned among the districts.

For a complete new building, using $1,400,000 as the cost figure, the additional tax load would range from 3.68 mills to 5.13 mills yearly, again depending on how the load is computed.

The entire plan is being advanced under the State Authority method of building whereby the Authority actually pays for constructing new schools and then leases them to school districts with a minimum amortization period being 29 years. All of the above tax figures are based on this time for wiping out the debt.

Because local school directors have pointed out that they want officials from all six districts involved in on the planning from the start of the venture, Ray W. Robinson, chief of consolidation and transportation in the Department of Public Instruction, is

LINCOLN AND GETTYSBURG

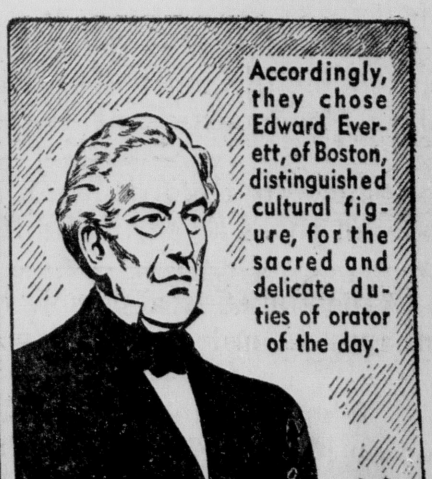

There were 51,000 casualties at Gettysburg, many of them killed and buried hastily or not at all.

Governor Curtin of Pennsylvania set aside 17 acres on Cemetery Hill, where the honored dead could lie decently buried, state by state.

It was decided to dedicate the National Soldiers' Cemetery at Gettysburg, Nov. 19, 1863. Selection of a speaker presented a problem. The committee agreed that President Lincoln was lacking in intellectual distinction and oratorical polish.

Accordingly, they chose Edward Everett, of Boston, distinguished cultural figure, for the sacred and delicate duties of orator of the day.

PAY-AS-WE-GO DEFENSE PLAN

President Truman wants congress to vote $16 billion in new taxes so we can finance our stepped-up program as we go. But up to now the lawmakers have been talking in figures only half that size.

The administration's financial experts have two chief reasons for urging a pay-as-you-go system, and they are outlined by Bruce Bissat, NEA editorial writer in the following manner:

First of all, they consider it unwise to add substantially to the already huge public debt, which now exceeds $250 billion. It requires $6 billion a year just to pay the interest on that obligation. At the depth of the depression, government outlay of $7 billion for all purposes was viewed in many quarters as a colossal expenditure.

Secondly, federal budget men believe heavy taxes are as vital as an anti-inflation device. They contend that extensive borrowing has exactly the opposite effect; and they marshal plenty of figures to support the argument.

In the five years of World War II, the government borrowed $214 billion, well over half of all the money it spent in that span. Commercial banks and the Federal Reserve supplied $86 billion of the total, the rest coming from individuals, savings banks, insurance companies, and the like.

Moreover, banks not only bought government bonds themselves, but lent money to their customers for similar purchases. During the war their loans shot up about $9 billion.

The government specialists declare that this system contributed heavily to the serious inflation which hit the country after the war. Never in history, they say, did the country's supply of money rise so rapidly. The amount of cash in general circulation catapulted from $7.6 billion in 1939 to $8.5 billion in 1945.

An even more vital index of money flow, the size of bank deposits, climbed from $45 billion to more than $128 billion in the war period.

War-time controls on materials and prices kept this money flood dammed up. But when controls were lifted, the combination of plentiful money and scarce goods sent the price level skyrocketing. It is this that the government seeks to prevent another time.

Since borrowing has the effect of creating new money while taxation reduces the supply in people's hands, federal fiscal experts see no method but taxes to forestall repetition of the 1946-49 price boom.

The most seasoned tax men on Capitol Hill are sympathetic with this objective. But they are worried also that too high taxation may have a destructive impact on the economy in another way: that it may dampen incentive and discourage enterprise and thus put a halt on our dynamic industrial system.

It seems fairly certain at this moment that Congress will not raise $16 billion in new taxes merely through more excise levies on goods and higher individual and corporate income taxes. The feeling is these categories can't take much more of a load.

So, if the pay-as-you-go aim is even to be approached, a premium would seem to be on new ideas in taxation. Unless Washington fiscal imaginations can get perking along these lines, we're more likely to go deeper in debt and pile up more inflationary dangers.

WARNING!

The local Selective Service Board has received information that some few 18 year old young men have not registered as required by law.

Under the Selective Service Act of 1948, all young men upon reaching their 18th birthday must register within five days thereafter. Failure to do so, under Section 12 of the Law, shall be punishable by imprisonment for not more than five years or a fine of not more than $10,000.00, or by both fine and imprisonment.

Any violation of the law must necessarily be reported by the local Selective Service Board to the State Headquarters at Harrisburg.

Here And There

Here's a bit of newspaper history of fifty years ago which we overlooked on the date of the anniversary. Browsing through the Warren Evening Times files we found this article printed on the first page of the edition of January 18, 1901:

There is "something doing" in the local newspaper world. A deal has been consummated whereby the Evening Press, formerly the Evening Democrat, passes from the control of the present owners, J. M. Siegfried, H. M. Preston, and others, and into the hands of the Insurgents, or anti-Quay faction of the Republican party. The paper will be anti-Quay first, and anti-Quay last, and after that it will be anti-Quay. A meeting of the new owners was held Thursday afternoon and the following officers were elected: President, Myron Waters; vice president, M. A. Myers; treasurer, L. W. Dennison; directors, Myron Waters, M. A. Myers, L. W. Dennison and C. W. Stone. The Insurgents, as they are called, have for a long time had their eyes on a paper in the city, and will probably enter at once upon a campaign of education. The Times first appeared on August 13, 1900, at which time it remarked "THE TIMES IS THE ONLY DEMOCRATIC PAPER IN WARREN COUNTY."

The action of The Press—or Democrat—in refusing to support the nominees of the Democratic party verified that statement, and now that they have abandoned the Democratic field, altogether, and proclaim themselves an anti-Quay Republican paper, The Times respectfully submits that it is, as it has been since its birth, "THE ONLY DEMOCRATIC PAPER IN WARREN COUNTY."

Tonight we have an orchid for one of our carrier boys. He is Richard Britton, of Russell, and has a route in the Conewago avenue section, where he is very popular with the subscribers, who appreciate his thoughtfulness and gentlemanly manners. One of them called in last evening to say a good word for Richard, who, she says, wears a cap with a squirrel tail on it. She reports he rings

Need More Than Boycott To Pin Down Red China

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—It will take considerably more than United Nations application of an economic boycott to defeat Communist China. This is the opinion of experts who have been watching Red China's foreign trade and internal economy.

Their conclusion is that even if the long China coast could be completely blockaded and all smuggling prevented, the stability of the Chinese Communist regime would not be endangered. Nor would the military potential of China be affected, even on a short-run basis.

The issue which this finding puts up to the United Nations is important. What it implies is that direct military action will have to be employed against Red China, if it is to be brought to terms. Economic sanctions and the breaking off of diplomatic relations alone won't do the trick.

In the new U. S. resolution to brand Communist China as an aggressor, now before the United Nations General Assembly, there is no direct reference as to what measures are to be applied. The fourth paragraph of the resolution merely calls upon the Collective Measures Committee "to study and recommend . . . what measures might be taken against Peiping."

WHAT this seems to point towards is another delay of some weeks before any plan can be adopted and put into action. It is apparently going to be a tough matter to persuade the British, the Dutch, the French and the Indians in particular to end their trade with Red China. Twenty-six countries have recognized Red China diplomatically. Seventeen are UN members.

The United States has finally gone about as far as it can go in breaking trade relations with Communist China. The U. S. began to take these steps nearly two years ago.

All Chinese-owned assets in the United States have been frozen by the Treasury Department. They are believed to be worth some $300 million, but a detailed census on them won't be completed till the end of January. The freeze order was imposed principally to prevent transfer of these assets to other countries, from which the Chinese Communist government might gain control over them.

Red China's imports from countries outside the Soviet bloc were valued at $270 million during the first nine months of 1950. Forty per cent, or nearly $100 million came from the United States. What China got from Russia via the trans-Siberian railroad is unknown.

CHINESE imports from the U. S. consisted mainly of $66 million worth of raw cotton, $26 million dyes and chemicals, $9 million metals, machinery and vehicles.

Cotton spinning is China's biggest industry, though it employs considerably less than one per cent of China's 400 million people. Shutting off raw cotton imports would hurt China some, as Russia could not immediately supply the deficit. But India could, if she does not join the boycott.

The important point here, however, is that China is still so backward that shutting down its industry means little.

Chinese exports to all countries outside the Soviet bloc are valued at $245 million for the first nine months of 1950. Of this total, 41 per cent, or about $100 million worth, came to the U. S. Principal export to Russia was probably soy beans.

Principal U. S. imports from China were $32 million worth of raw silk and wool, $28 million bristles and feathers, $14 million vegetable oils and $10 million worth of tin and other ores. Dried eggs, tea and miscellaneous merchandise made up the remainder.

the bell every night, and hands the paper to some one in the house, and he is doing it at many of the homes on his route. "He's the kind of a carrier boy that is worth while," this woman stated enthusiastically, in explaining what a pleasure it is to greet Richard every evening—"with his big brown eyes and freckle-covered face."

This And That: LeRoy E. Amacher, 214 Depot street, Ridgway, has the contract to operate the Star Route between Kane and Emporium, his bid being $5,600 a year. . . . The Ridgway Fire Department is planning their annual celebration August 12 to 18, the firemen having contracted with Thompson Bros. Amusement Co., of Altoona, to appear there during the week. . . . This is the month of birthday anniversaries and other special days, beginning with Ground Hog day tomorrow, followed by birthdays of Lincoln and Washington, and of course Valentine Day; it also sees the start of lent, with Ash Wednesday being observed next week, February 7th, which means that Easter will fall on March 25 just about as early as it is possible to be. . . . The latest Pennsylvania Motor Federation Membership Bulletin shows the Warren County Motor Club climbing rapidly toward the top in Class C. Leader in Class C now is the Lewistown club, which moved up from ninth place, with a gain of 10.62 per cent, with the Warren County Club second with 10.10 per cent, leaving the Clearfield club a close third with 9.58 per cent. . . . Just in case you are one of the fortunate ones who succeeded in securing a new sticker along with the 1951 operator's license in time to be eligible to drive your car today, be reminded that six weeks from today will be March 15th, when you will have (Turn to Page Six)

The Nation Today

THE NATION TODAY
BY JAMES MARLOW

Washington.—(P) — You wonder whether there's a loophole for you in the wage freeze? That will depend on the wage stabilization board (WSB). It's working now on your case, and everybody's. It will be, for a long time.

None of the wages and salaries, put under a blanket freeze Friday, can be raised until WSB says okay.

True, this frigid blanket was only meant to be temporary. But it will not be lifted entirely.

WSB will simply defrost it a bit by saying it's all right to give a raise to this group or that, in this situation or that.

The freeze had to be temporary because it was so sudden. WSB didn't have time to work out a plan fair to everyone.

Under the law, when the government slapped price controls on an industry, it had to control wages in that industry at the same time.

Since the government decided suddenly it had to put price controls on practically everything, it ordered wage controls everywhere.

If allowed to stand unchanged, this freeze would be unjust to many workers since their wages and problems vary from group to group.

(Likewise, it would be unjust to businessmen if none of them, even though caught in a squeeze, could get any adjustment on the price freeze.)

So now the nine-man WSB, headed by Cyrus S. Ching, must go back over the wage freeze, to chop holes in it to be fair to workers generally.

(At the same time, of course, WSB must keep some kind of lid on wages. Otherwise uncontrolled wages would make a jest of price control.)

WSB won't be able to give all the answers at once. Its counterpart in World War II, the war labor board, had to keep banging away at the problem for years.

It probably will try to set some kind of pattern like this:

It will say all workers are permitted to get a wage increase, perhaps of 10 per cent or so, since such and such a date.

Such a step would be a pattern. But then there'd be all kinds of special problems within that pattern. For example:

What should WSB permit in raises for people who get promoted in jobs, or whose job classifications are changed, or whose employers want to give them merit increases.

What about negotiations going on between employers and employees at the time the freeze was applied? Since the negotiations started before the freeze, should WSB put a limit on what such workers can get?

And there's the problem of escalator clauses. Some employers long ago agreed in contracts to give their employees an automatic raise every time living costs move up a notch.

Should WSB say now that those longstanding contracts no longer can be carried out? And what of those workers who claim they've fallen far behind in the march toward higher wages?

WSB, as Ching pointed out, has another responsibility besides putting lids on workers. That's to try not to do anything that would cause labor unrest which would hurt the defense program.

Whatever it does, WSB will have to keep doing it a long time for the wage problem will shift and change as living costs and prices change.

As far back as 1897, when what are now the national forests were known as forest reserves, the Secretary of Agriculture was authorized by Congress to permit the use of timber growing on the reserves, and to control its use in the public interest.

When the forest reserves became national forests this authority was delegated to the Chief of the Forest Service, and it is because of the Act of June 4, 1897 that national forest stumps are now available on some 150 odd national forests. It is the intent, of the Act, that the timber resources shall be of the greatest possible, permanent usefulness to the people of the United States.

In order that national forest timber shall be of the greatest possible usefulness to both present and succeeding generations, it is essential that the annual cut shall never exceed the annual growth. This principal of sustainable yield is basic to the administration of the timber resources of all of the national forests.

Here on the Allegheny Forest an important step in carrying out the purpose of the Act of 1897 was the activating of a fire protection system that would keep the acreage burned over each year at an acceptable minimum so that the second growth stands will have the chance to grow up into merchantable timber. Without adequate fire protection sustained yield cannot be achieved.

Another important step was to determine by field surveys the kind, location and quantity of the timber resources on the neatly acquired lands of the Allegheny National forest. Extensive timber surveys during the CCC program accomplished this important step.

From these surveys, and aerial photographs, it was determined that there was, in the aggregate, a considerable volume of culled over old growth timber scattered over the forest, mostly in rather small patches which was in need of harvesting before heavy loss from decay, insects and mortality resulted.

In order to provide for an orderly harvesting of this material in such a way that the cut would be spread over sufficient years to allow some of the second growth to reach sawtimber size, an allowable annual cut for the forest was set up. At present the allowable annual cut for the Allegheny

Forest is about six and one-half million board feet. This can be expected to increase substantially as more and more second growth stands reach sawtimber size.

The first timber management plan for the Allegheny National Forest went into effect twelve years ago. This plan was revised in 1948 and provides for the list of the old growth patches to be cut over by 1958. By then all of the timbers and, except the Tionesta Natural Area and Heart's Content area, which are never to be cut, will be either second growth stands resulting from clear cutting prior to acquisition, or old growth areas from which the decadent, mature and other poor risk trees have been cut under Forest Service supervision.

GUEST PREACHER AT YOUNGVILLE CHURCH

The Rev. Clarence C. Fisher, pastor of the First Methodist church at Leechburg, will be guest preacher at the Youngville Methodist church February 4-11, assisting the pastor, Rev. E. W. Chitester, and the congregation in its Evangelistic Advance campaign.

Rev. Fisher is a graduate of Allegheny College and of Drew Theological Seminary and comes well equipped for this assignment. He will speak before the Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. Sunday and will preach at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. services, as well as at 7:30 p. m. services daily Monday through Thursday.

A list of 100 prospects has been prepared for the campaign and teams of visitors will begin their calls on these prospective members immediately following their meeting at 2:30 p. m. Sunday at the church.

... And You'll See That Your Savings On A&P's Storewide

Everyday Low Prices Are Far Greater Than On Just A Few "Week-End Specials"

There are more than 300 shopping days in the year, but an average of only 104 Fridays and Saturdays. So by offering low prices every day, instead of just on week-ends, A&P triples your chances to save money. What's more, by offering these everyday low prices on hundreds of items throughout the store, instead of on just a few "specials" here and there, A&P multiplies your chances to save money, many times. It's easy to see that this results in much bigger savings on your total food bill. Easy to see how much bigger, too. Simply test shop A&P by getting all your food and household needs here for a week. Then compare your total bill with what you normally spend. The difference in size will be a pleasant surprise.

Year's Program Is Discussed By "Y" Boys' Work Group

Thirteen members of the boys' work committee of the YMCA gathered for a dinner-meeting held in the Y at five o'clock yesterday to set up plans for the year's program.

In attendance were Charles Koebly, chairman; James C. Hengst, boys' work secretary; Dan Walton, general secretary; Dave Levine, Roger Mahaffy, Ken Morrison, Roger Hendrickson, John Stachowiak, Murray Cameron, Paul Mutzbaugh, Gerald Huber, Gordon Hanks and Allen Anderson.

Mr. Koebly opened the meeting by giving a general explanation of the purpose and importance of the program, followed by a complete outline presented by Mr. Hengst. Members were then placed on one or more of the many sub-committees under the larger head.

The smaller groups will each have the task of doing closer work with the YMCA club program, physical department, religious work, membership, etc., in an attempt to improve the overall set-up still further.

Sub-committees will meet separately in planning their work and will then report their progress at monthly meetings of the group at large.

W P L REPORTING

The swift procession of events becomes very bewildering these days. While the newspapers, radio and newsreels perform a vital job in presenting straight facts, it is just as important to find an interpretation of them. This is the job of magazine articles and, particularly, books.

Some recent additions to the Warren Public Library collection are books which illuminate different areas of living in our contemporary world.

KNOW YOUR ISMS, by Martin Dodge, is a small and concise book which defines the theories of democracy, socialism, communism and fascism. Although these are all more involved than the simple definitions in the book indicate, Know Your Isms makes a very good starting

Majority of Food Stores Reported To Be Holding Price Line Since Freeze

By The Associated Press
Despite scattered reports of retail food price boosting since the wage-price freeze was imposed, the vast majority of food stores appeared this week to be holding the price line.

A survey of prices quoted by leading store chains in nine key cities across the nation showed only minor changes on a list of several sensitive items.

Sirloin steak, for example, was two cents a pound cheaper in Detroit and six cents cheaper in Boston, compared with last week.

Pork chops were a little lower in Washington, D. C.; Jacksonville, Fla., and Philadelphia—but as much as four cents a pound higher in New York. Leg of lamb was off slightly in the same cities.

Frying chickens edged lower in a few places, but were up two to four cents a pound in others, and the same narrow trend was evident for eggs and butter, although eggs were down six cents in one large chain in the Chicago area.

All six items were unchanged in Los Angeles and Pittsburgh.

Spokesmen for four different store chains in the big New York marketing area said they were holding prices steady for the time being, at least, until the Economic Stabilization Agency could issue specific regulations defining maximum mark-ups for wholesalers and retailers.

Wholesale prices of many farm commodities have continued climbing since the freeze was ordered. The Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food price index this week was up 9 cents to $7.17 (this index is computed on a Tuesday-to-Tuesday basis) and at the highest level since Aug. 10, 1948. The record high is $7.36, established in July of 1948. This index represents the total wholesale cost of a pound each of 31 foods, and 19 of those foods rose during the index period, with only two declining (coffee and sugar).

The rise in wholesale meat prices was attributed chiefly to storms and icy roads in the midwest which reduced shipment of livestock from farms. Market sources reported, however, that wholesale meat buying in several cities was very slow because retailers dared not make heavy buying commitments when their own pricing status was so uncertain.

The wage-price freeze caused no discernible change in normal consumer food buying, and food authorities said no general shortages of any food staples appeared likely at this time.

Here's the department's national list of plentiful foods for thrifty buying in February: Apples, grapefruit, oranges, onions, potatoes, sauerkraut, eggs, broiler and fryer chickens, turkeys, frozen fish fillets, shrimp, cottage cheese, honey and peanut butter.

LUDLOW

Ludlow, Jan. 31—Holy Communion services were held at Moriah Lutheran church on Sunday morning, with the Rev. Hans Pearson using as his preparatory subject, "Redeeming Grace." Mrs. Emil Nelson sang a solo, "Communion Hymn." It was announced a bake sale will be held at the church Friday from 4 to 6 p. m.

Luther League held its regular meeting with Delores Johnson and Alfred Johnson entertaining. The meeting was conducted by the president, Curtiss Nelson, and the following program was presented: Readings, Nancy Carlson and Phyllis Dahle; piano solos, Janice Carlson and Margaret Swanson. There was a good attendance. Refreshments and a social hour were enjoyed at the close of the meeting.

Two services were held at the Covenant Mission church Sunday, with the Rev. Herman Davidson giving the sermons.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Covenant Mission church held its regular meeting with Mrs. Oscar Carlson entertaining, assisted by Mrs. Otto Carlson, Mrs. Otto Carlson, president, presided at the meeting, and Rose Nelson, Sheffield, was the guest speaker. Miss Nelson gave a fine talk about her recent trip to the World Conference of Sunday Schools held at Toronto, Canada. Other numbers on the program were: Vocal solo, Norma Bergquist; vocal duet, Sylvia Carlson and Katherine Contas; musical number, Beverly Carl. There was a fine attendance.

Alfred Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Johnson; Paul Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Johnson; and Neal Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Johnson, arrived home Friday from Upsala College for their mid-semester vacation.

James and Thomas Nelson, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Nelson, of State College, are spending their mid-semester vacation at home.

The following attended the Warren County Council Boy Scout banquet held at Warren: Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Cox, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. William Hanson, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Gilfert, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Wenstran, Mr. and Mrs. Lester McArthur, John G. Johnson, Adolph Johnson, E. W. Johnson, M. I. Jones, Ernest Carlson.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Johnson entertained at a farewell party for Phyllis Dahle at the American Legion Hall, with guests from Hazelhurst, Kane, Jamestown, and Ludlow. Miss Dahle is a recruit in the WAF and left for San Antonio, Texas, Monday morning. She is a graduate of Kane High School, class of 1950, and is the daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Dahle.

MacKenzie's Column

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The text for our sermon today is taken from the statement by General MacArthur after his week-end visit to the blazing Korean battle-front.

"The stake we fight for now," said he, "is more than Korea. It's a free Asia."

And how shall we interpret that? Well, to me it emphasizes that the conflict is outgrowing Korea, and that Asia already is aflame with the "hot war" which peace-loving peoples so long have dreaded.

Beyond that we have no right to speculate with MacArthur's words. However, from our own observations we are entitled to add that this Asiatic upheaval might (though not necessarily) develop into World War III.

When we of the western world speak of another global war, probably most of us instinctively have in mind a conflict starting in western Europe. That's natural, because it's where the last two were touched off—and because Europe is closer to us than eastern Asia.

But our world is like a bomb with many fuses. It can explode whichever fuse is full lighted.

The trend of events has made it quite clear that the Korean war wasn't a spontaneous affair but was the outgrowth of a deliberate plan. The Communist North Koreans launched it by invading independent South Korea.

United Nations intervention to halt this attack was followed by the appearance of "Chinese volunteer" troops from Manchuria and China proper. Red Peiping's subsequent assumption of spokesman-ship for these "volunteers" and North Koreans has made it obvious that Moscow-backed China is behind the Korean upheaval.

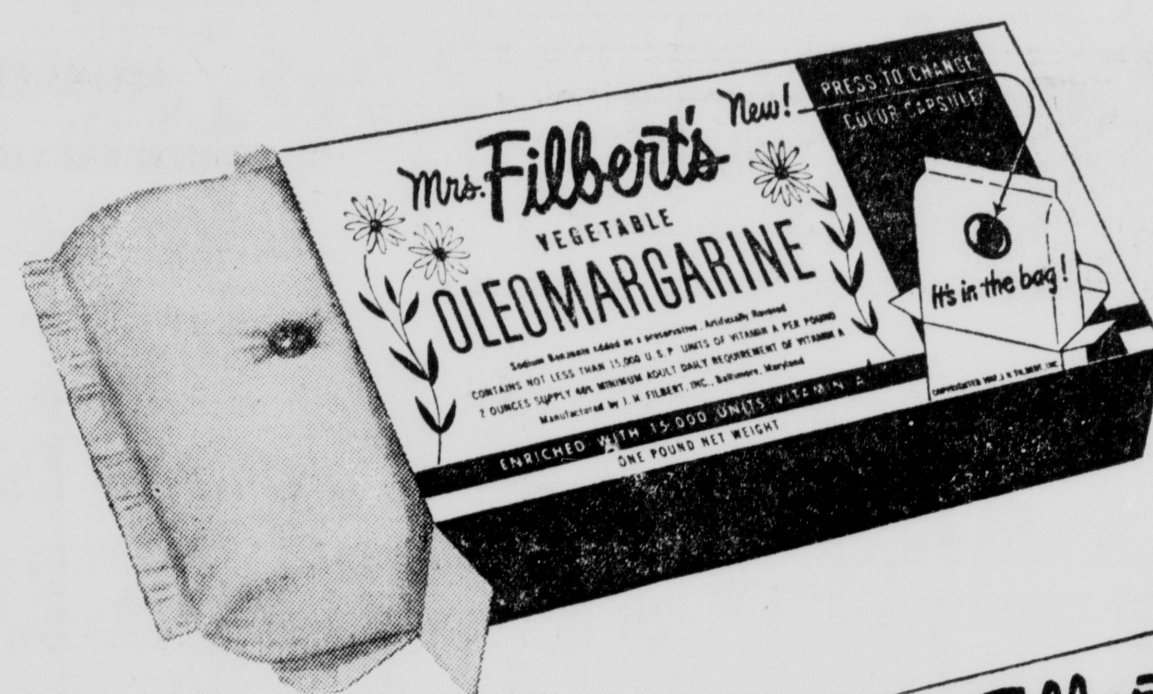

When we further take into consideration Red China's activities against French Indochina, Tibet and other eastern countries we get a picture of an Asia across which the Bolshevik revolution is spreading. All this is being engineered by Communist China, in collaboration with Moscow.

And why should Communism choose Asia as the theater for the first outbreak of "hot war"? Because that is the theater in which the Bolsheviks can whittle down America and the other western allies militarily and economically without actually precipitating a world war at the outset.

Moreover, Russia doesn't have to get involved directly herself, but can work through China. Any such operation in Europe would have to be carried out by Russia herself. This would immediately launch a world war and bring retaliation on the Soviet Union.

How long this whittling down process will continue in Asia is anybody's guess. It could spread considerably and run on for a long time without actually developing into a global affair. We may be sure Russia will keep on with her efforts to weaken America as long as it is profitable.

Golden Wedding Day

Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Marsh, Russell, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Wednesday afternoon and evening with an open house arranged at their home by their children. Mrs. Marsh received her guests in a becoming gown of navy blue, with which she wore a lovely corsage of yellow rosebuds.

The home was attractively decorated with spring flowers and luncheon was served buffet style to 140 guests from Warren, Busti, Lakewood, Jamestown, Frewsburg, Cleveland, and Lander. Among these were Mrs. Marsh's 81 year old uncle, Loren Whiting, with his son and daughter, William and Gowana Whiting, Delevan, N. Y.; James Frizzel, Cleveland, O., and Ruby Frizzel, Jamestown.

A lace cloth covered the table, which was centered with a three-tier wedding cake decorated in gold and white and lighted with golden tapers in silver holders. Mrs. M. E. McKenzie, Akeley, and Mrs. Lester Blair, Warren, nieces of the couple, presided; Mrs. Floyd Marsh, a daughter-in-law, served the cake, and Mrs. Milton

Johnson, Busti, another niece, was in charge of the guest book. Aides were Mary Alice and Bernice Venman and Gowana Whiting.

The honored ones received a great many lovely remembrances, including money, flowers, and greetings from relatives and friends.

Grace Whiting, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Whiting, of Lynden, Cattaraugus county, New York, and Roy A. Marsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albro Marsh, Farmington township, were united in marriage January 31, 1901, in the Methodist parsonage in Frewsburg, N. Y., by Bishop Walter H. Owers. Their only attendant was the late Mrs. Cora Reed, sister of the bridegroom.

They settled on a farm in Lander and remained there until November, 1945, when they retired and moved to Russell. Both are members of Lander Grange and of the Russell Methodist church, which they attend regularly.

Mr. and Mrs. Marsh have three children: Mrs. Harold Hale, Russell; Mrs. Conrad Venman, Akeley, and Floyd Marsh, Lander; also eight grandchildren: Edward and Cherron Hale, Mary Alice, Bernice and Walter Venman, David, Donald and Dorothy Marsh.

Clair Hooks Have Delightful Party For Anniversary

Despite cold weather and bad traveling conditions, about 75 relatives, neighbors and other friends gathered to help Mr. and Mrs. Clair Hook, Clarendon RD 1, celebrate their golden wedding day and wish them many more such happy anniversaries.

The open house arranged in their honor was held at the home of their only daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Dunham, Warren RD 3. The bride of 50 years wore a corsage of yellow roses and her bridegroom, a boutonniere of the same, both gifts from a niece and nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Peterson, Russell, while other bouquets of flowers used throughout the home were from various members of the family.

A granddaughter, Miss Marjorie Hook, Chancellors Valley, presided at the table, which was decorated with white tapers and a large, three-tiered cake decorated in gold and white. A daughter-in-law, Mrs. Duane Hook, Chancellors Valley, took charge of the guest book.

The honored ones received a great many greetings and gifts included several sums of money.

Mrs. Hook is the former Ruth Scribner, of Canada, N. Y., and Mr. Hook, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Hook, was born and spent his younger years at Sugar Run. They were married in New York state but lived in Warren until about 1925, when they moved to the Jackson Run road. Later, they spent some time in Delavan, N. Y., returning to this vicinity within the past year.

They have five children: Merle, in Lockport, N. Y., who was unable to make the trip because of the weather; Burdette, Clarendon RD 1; Duane, Chancellors Valley; Mrs. Dunham, Warren RD 3, and Lt. John Hook, with the U. S. Navy in Washington, D. C., and also unable to come home for the affair. They have ten grandchildren, also.

Red Cross Class Of Instruction To Grangers Tonight

Attorney A. C. Flick, Jr., who is head of the special speakers' bureau set up by Warren County Red Cross Chapter in conjunction with its annual financial campaign, will open the series of speaking engagements with a talk at tonight's session of Warren County Pomona Grange, 7:30 o'clock in the Stoneham community house.

Also speaking this evening will be Attorney S. Knox Harper, appearing before Trinity Service League members for their 6:15 dinner-meeting in Trinity parish house.

C. A. Pettibone, general publicity director for the coming drive, has arranged the services of the speakers' bureau as part of the program designed to publicize the Red Cross needs.

Already scheduled by the bureau are two county meetings, Diamond Grange at Tiona on February 6, and Sheffield Rotary Club the following week.

Other organizations in the borough or county interested in contacting the speakers' bureau are asked to call Red Cross headquarters in the Warren Service Center, 404 Market street, telephone 2926.

Methodists Plan Evangelism School

Pastors of all Methodist parishes in Warren borough and throughout the county will attend a School of Evangelistic Preaching to be held in Epworth Methodist church in Jamestown February 2-9.

They will be among pastors of the Jamestown District and some 200 guest ministers from neighboring conferences who will gather to share in discussions of modern techniques in visitation and pulpits evangelism, led by outstanding pastors from some of the strategic churches of America.

There will be preaching services and evangelistic visitation in the churches of the Jamestown District, which is led by Rev. Wayne Furman, former pastor of Warren's First church and now the district superintendent. Guest pastors will assist these churches.

This School of Evangelism is a part of the Erie Conference Evangelistic Advance headed by Bishop Lloyd C. Wicke, Pittsburgh.

POLICE PROTECTION PROMISED WITNESS

Pittsburgh, Feb. 1—(P)—The state has promised police protection, if necessary, for a witness before its special grand jury. The witness reported receiving "eight or nine" threatening phone calls.

Deputy Attorney General Thomas L. Jones identified him as Valentine Delle Donne, a 54-year-old Homestead baker called to testify about vice and rackets in his home town.

Jones said a sample of the calls reported by Delle Donne was—"You'd better keep your big mouth shut if you value your life."

Another call, Jones said, accused Delle Donne of being "a member of the White gang," and demanded blackmail.

Assembly Votes To Apply "Gag" Rule On China Debate

Under the "gag" rule, there is no debate, but each delegation is allowed a maximum of seven minutes to explain its vote. The vote to forego debate was 32 in favor and five (Soviet Bloc) against.

The resolution was approved by the political committee 44 to 7 Tuesday night. The one big question remaining after final ratification of the proposal, is: "What next?"

The measure not only indicts Mao Tse-Tung's Peiping regime as the aggressor in Korea, along with the North Koreans, but it sets up one committee to see if warfare in Korea can be ended by negotiation and another to study possible penalties for Red China.

A two-third majority vote is necessary in the Assembly plenary meeting. Only a simple majority of countries voting was necessary to adopt the resolution in the committee.

Delegates on the 60-nation committee are the same ones who sit in the Assembly, which has remained on call because of the China-Korea crisis since the suspension of the fifth session in December.

The J. N. was unmistakably lined up in force behind the principle of naming names when the aggressor was a big one as well as a little one. However it did not go as far as some popular opinion wanted it to go by charging Russia with complicity, or in taking military steps against Communist China as it did against North Korea.

thanked the Marconi Outing Club and its officers who made possible the use of the club; Orrie Beebe for his dinner music and also the newspaper and radio for their constant helpfulness and cooperation.

Prior to Mr. Engle's talk the "Humbugs", one of Warren's better known Barber Shop Quartettes, put in their appearance and entertained with several fine selections. Their opening number, an original "Howdy-Do", was dedicated to the Warren High School guests who were present and their entire selection of songs was enthusiastically received. Members of the quartette were Howard Johnson, Roger Hendrickson, Dick Hill and Bill Duff.

Mr. Rice also introduced the lettermen and Senior participants in athletics who were present as guests of the Sports Boosters and also members of the Faculty and Coaching Staff who were present.

Attention of the guests and members present was called to the annual meeting of the Warren Sports Boosters which will be held at the Y.M.C.A. on Wednesday, March 7th. This meeting will see the election of new officers; submission of reports and other interesting reviews of the last season. All Sports Boosters and fans who hold 1950 or 1951 membership cards are urged to attend the March 7th meeting.

as the result of a six weeks investigation by Buffalo police. They are reported to have stolen everything from dentures to television sets, and over $10,000 worth of goods were recovered at a second hand shop owned by Jacob Smith, 49.

Previous to the break-ins at Warren, the Trinity Methodist church and the Second Presbyterian church in Old City were burglarized on the night of June 12. Robberies at Kane also were committed about that time. Following the night the robbers were here, similar burglaries took place in Bradford.

Chief Evan is checking with Buffalo police today in an attempt to establish a definite connection between the local burglaries and the men now being held in Buffalo. They were identified as Robert Gascoyne, 29, and his brother, Thomas, 25; William G. Helsel, 23; Theodore Bloomer, 43; and Vincent A'anna, 21.

Six Districts Are Organized By Civil Defense In County

Warren County Civil Defense officials announced this morning that six out of the 12 districts in the county have now been organized and that the remaining districts will be completed within the next few weeks.

P. C. Ostergard, assistant deputy coordinator, reported that over 30 persons attended an area meeting last night in the Garland Community House to hear county officials discuss plans for the organization of that unit.

Arthur Kane of Garland has been named assistant district director to Gordon Clark of Youngsville. Mr. Kane presided at last night's session which was attended by Judge Allison D. Wade, Francis Buchanan, Ralph Sires, L. E. Linder, and S. Knox Harper.

A public meeting for the entire district which includes Pittsfield and Brokenstraw townships and Youngsville borough will be held in the Youngsville High School on February 7th.

troops to Europe, Eisenhower said that should be done in a ratio to what the Europeans themselves provide.

As to the United States need of western Europe, Eisenhower said western Europe's skilled labor constitutes "the greatest pool" in the world and it has an "industrial fabric" second only to the United States, plus more than 200,000,000 persons.

He said if that potential were transferred to the other side, the military balance of power "would be shifted so drastically our safety would be gravely imperiled, gravely imperiled."

He said the nation must devise a program for security that can be supported over the next 20 or 30 years or more.

Eisenhower said that at present our western European Allies have little in the way of munitions production. But, he added, their potential is growing.

At the outset, he told them he has "no end to serve except the good of the United States," and appealed for belief in the "sincerity of my convictions." The congress members applauded.

In earnest tones, he told the legislators they soon may be forced to make decisions which will determine the course of civilization. He added that those decisions involve whether free governments will continue to exist.

His tour of Europe was made to determine both the possibilities of defending Europe against the threat of Russian aggression and the readiness and ability of Europe to defend itself.

Eisenhower said it was a fallacy to believe the strengthening of western Europe's defenses would invite attack by the Communists.

This was a contention Senator Taft (R-Ohio) has made in opposing the sending of a large U. S. land army to Europe.

Eisenhower said his survey of Europe gave him only a "meager base" on which to recommend American help in manning western Europe's defenses.

But he stoutly contended that what the western nations are trying to do "cannot honestly be considered by any other nation as a threat to its existence."

He said the western European defense force is not being mobilized for any belligerent or aggressive purpose.

"We are going to build for ourselves a secure wall of peace," the lawmakers arose and applauded when Eisenhower, in full uniform, appeared before them. The 510-seat hall was filled.

Mrs. Eisenhower, wearing a red dress and black hat, was seated in the front of the auditorium with a group of women members of congress.

Vice President Barkley presiding at the informal gathering, told the congress members Eisenhower would talk an hour or more, but there would be no opportunity for them to question him.

However, two key senate committees—those on foreign relations and the Armed Forces—had a question and answer meeting scheduled with Eisenhower for 2:30 p. m.

RENT CONTROL NEWS RELEASE

Office of The Housing Expediter, Area Rent Office, 707 Commerce Building, Erie, Penn'a

Question—"I have just inherited some property from my father. By reason of the fact he was very old, I feel that he failed to increase his rents adequately during the late 30's and early 40's before rent control started, with the result that the rent for his properties seems to be to be much lower than the rent for similar properties. What may I do to secure an adequate rent?"

Answer—"You may petition for an increase in rent on the ground that the rent is inequitable from the standpoint of comparability with similar dwelling units in your neighborhood on the freeze date and from the standpoint that you have not been adequately compensated for an increase in the cost of maintenance and taxes. We recommend that you talk things over with one of our Rent Consultants who will help you prepare the necessary forms. Residents of Erie county should telephone the Erie Rent Office (21-429) for an appointment with the Rent Consultant."

Question—"My landlord has refused to repair the roof which leaks in a dozen different places. The ceilings are badly spotted in three rooms and the plaster is ready to fall in one room. What can the Rent Office do to help me?"

Answer—"You should first file a written statement with the Rent Office on either Form D-10, Statement of Tenant, or Form D-108, Tenant's Application for a Decrease in Rent. Assuming that the needed repairs are the responsibility of the landlord as indicated by the registration statement, the Rent Office would then take action to either require the landlord to make the necessary repairs or else reduce the rent."

"SKY RAY" IS NAVY'S NEW CARRIER JET—This new carrier-based jet "flying triangle," the XF4D, is said to meet the Navy's need for a plane that can be catapulted from carrier decks, climb rapidly and intercept enemy planes on short notice. Built by Douglas Aircraft at its Segundo, Calif., plant, the plane—tentatively named the "Sky Ray"—has passed its first flight tests successfully. Performance data on the tailless, triangle-winged ship are still secret.

SKY SUPPLIED—UN troops in an unnamed sector of South Korea where roads are nearly impassable in the winter receive supplies air-dropped to them from C-119 Flying Boxcars. While three soldiers unpack gas drums and other supplies, above, two of the troops fold up a parachute which will be repacked and used again. (NEA-Acme Telephoto by Staff Photographer Ed Hoffman.)

Hal Boyle's Comment

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
(For Hal Boyle)

Somewhere in Korea—(P)—The face of Lee In Dok will haunt Americans who have known him for years after this war is done.

There is nothing unusual about Lee In Dok's face. It is broad and oriental, with high cheek bones and dark slanting eyes. It is just that his face sometimes reflects the great personal tragedy that war has brought to Lee In Dok.

A short, husky South Korean of 28, he is the houseboy of three soldiers who treat him well. He is very lucky indeed to be in a room of this old schoolhouse which the army has taken over.

Lee In Dok has a cot and a sleeping bag and he is asleep now. His clothing hangs carefully from nails he drove in the wall. His few personal effects are stored neatly under the cot. Outside, sentries with rifles are in cold foxholes, guarding his sleep. A casual visitor might walk in and say: "I've bet that guy never had it so good."

Lee In Dok had it better than this. Before the Communists crossed the 38th parallel last June, he was a prosperous sugar broker in Taejon. He lived in a big house, a fine house by Korean standards. With him lived his wife and two little children, his father and mother.

How, in the push and confusion of war, Lee In Dok became separated from his family is not known to him or even by the three soldiers he serves so faithfully. Capt. Bernard Bailey of Waterloo, Ia., and Stellacom, Wash., Lt. Perry Davis of Salt Lake City, and Master Sgt. Crawford G. Coyner of Parkland, Wash., refrain from bringing up the subject.

In August, Bailey and Coyner found Lee In Dok working as a common laborer inside the Allied Pusa-Taegu perimeter. He was reduced to canvas shoes, worn cotton pants and shirt and a rice straw hat. He looked like a peasant. They hired him and soon found he was not a peasant at all but a man of education and rare intelligence—greatly stricken by the loss of his family.

Lee In Dok was frantically eager when the Allies broke out of their perimeter on September and headed northward. He trembled with expectation. Bailey and Coyner drove him into Taejon and to the site of his former home.

The home was wrecked. A neighbor came up and whispered a few words to the horrified Lee In Dok. His face tight with gloom, Lee In Dok walked into the ashes of the house and stood a silent moment.

"Then," Coyner says, "he came back to out jeep and said just two words, 'We go.'"

War is such a big sized tragedy that it dwarfs the personal tragedies, the tens of thousands of personal tragedies.

But sometimes personal tragedies are the hardest to forget. And the sudden pitiful misery in the face of Lee In Dok as he crawled into his sleeping bag an hour ago was a haunting thing, to be long remembered.

Western front, Korea—(P)—What does a man think about when another man is shooting at him?

Cpl. Edward Chaney of Oia, Ark., asks: "Do you hear those bees (snipers' bullets) buzzing?"

Cpl. Earl Zuckorh of El Reno, Okla., said "if you think this is bad, you should hear that zip when you are riding in a jeep. You don't know whether to speed up, slow down or stop dead and dive in a ditch."

Capt. Herbert Brannon of Kansas City, commented: "He isn't a very good shot but I think he's got one of our snipers rifles." Sgt. William H. Griffin of Newport, Ark., said "I am going to get him."

And what does a man, who was the sniper's original target, think? I can answer that one all right. When the first bullet whizzed by my ear I thought "what was that?" I stupidly exposed myself while watching a U. N. unit charge a hill 300 yards away. Close by me a tank was pounding the Reds on the hill and they were scurrying from the murderous blast like ants. Some of them scurried on their hands and knees.

Then the sniper opened up from a well-hidden hole on the hill. When the second shot zipped past I thought "this guy is trying to kill me."

The six of us—Chaney, Zuckorh, Cpl. Thomas Smith of Eckhart, Md., Brannon, Griffin and I—ducked behind a tank. Our boots stuck in the glue-like mud into which the springlike sun had melted the once frozen hills. But we got there pretty fast anyway.

While we crouched behind our welcome shield we talked. Our sniper was a persistent fellow. He fired 30 or 40 rounds in the general vicinity. One unfortunate doughboy behind us was winged in the hand. Other bullets splattered close to the tank.

An ammunition bearer, who was so busy he didn't notice the commotion strolled serenely across the skyline. "If he gets hit I want those pretty pants," said one of our crouching group.

The bearer was wearing a fleecelined windbreaking pair of pants over his regular trousers.

As we waited for someone to stop our sniper the talk turned to the war. "We've been pretty lucky," said one of the six. "We've only lost two men in all the time we have been over here."

"You're forgetting that tall guy from Tennessee," said another. "Did he get killed?"

"Just the other day."

There wasn't any talk for a while and then Smith pulled out a pack of cigarettes and offered them around. When he didn't get any takers he reproached us.

"They're from the states. Notice the blue tax stamp?"

"Why cigarettes clear from the states?" another asked. "We get plenty over here."

"I just got homesick for that blue tax stamp."

Cigarettes furnished to the GIs are tax free and do not carry that blue stamp so familiar to statewide smokers.

Soon Griffin left our group. The sniper's bullets continued to whine by. Then Griffin's rifle cracked several times and we heard no more.

"He just fired a couple times too often," said Griffin. "After a few rounds those weapons heat up and you can see the smoke. I spotted it and got him."

"He hits everything he goes after. He's the best tank commander in the outfit," said Chaney.

Young Victim Of Traffic Accident Is Reported Good

James McDonald, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Art McDonald, 611 East street, is reported in good condition at Warren General Hospital this morning, although suffering from a possible skull fracture, as the result of being struck by a truck at Pennsylvania and East shortly before one o'clock yesterday afternoon.

According to the police report, young McDonald and John Larsen, son of Dr. and Mrs. John Larsen, were playing on the way to school and were chasing one another. McDonald ran out into the street directly in front of the truck, operated by John I. Berdine, of Russell RD 2, which was proceeding east at a slow rate of speed.

Witnesses to the accident told police that Berdine made every effort to avoid the youngster, swerving to the left into the opposing traffic lane. No charges have been filed against Berdine.

Young McDonald was rushed to Warren General Hospital by ambulance, where he was admitted following emergency treatment.

Visiting Pastor To Aid Local Campaign

Word has been received by Dr. Arthur Colley that Dr. Walter Presett, Pittsburgh, has been assigned to assist him and the members of First Methodist church in the United Evangelistic Advance which is getting under way in the entire Erie Conference.

Dr. Presett has been a successful pastor in the city of Pittsburgh and is now district superintendent of the Blairsville District, Pittsburgh Conference of the Methodist Church.

Local church committees are busy preparing lists of prospects for church membership, and plans are under way for making visits to these people. Special preaching services will be held in First church beginning Sunday, February 4, at which time Dr. Presett

Lander Victim Of Polio Is Entering School In Virginia

BAKER'S PURE VANILLA

IRVINE

Lander, Jan. 31—Mr. and Mrs. John Gruber and son, Robert, has left for Fishersville, Va., where Robert will enter the Woodrow Wilson Home, rehabilitation center for polio patients.

Robert, who is 16, was stricken with polio October 20, 1947, and was a patient in Jamestown General Hospital for eight months. Later he was removed to Zern Hospital in Erie and spent five months in that institution. Since that time he has been at home. His lower limbs are paralyzed and he spends most of his time in a wheel chair. At the Woodrow Wilson Home, he will receive physical therapy and learn some trade.

Raymond Mahan, well known local farmer, was taken to Jamestown General Hospital yesterday for treatment.

Albert Firth returned Monday evening from Warren General Hospital, where he has been a patient for the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Falconer entertained the Northside Five Hundred Club Saturday evening. Prizes were awarded to Charles Engstrom, Mrs. Willard Hitchcock, Neil Carlson, Mrs. Neil Johnson, and Adolph Block. Mrs. Falconer served refreshments.

BARNES

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Curtin and daughter, Pamela, Wilkesburg spent the weekend visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Bramer, in Sheffield, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Curtin, in Barnes.

Mrs. Theodore Valone and infant daughter, Mable Caroline, are home from Warren Maternity Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Huston were in Bradford, where Mrs. Huston attended a meeting of the Brides' Club, held at the Hotel Emery.

REA Cuts Rates Three Per Cent Effective Jan. 1

The Northwestern Rural Electric Co-Operative Association has cut its rates about three per cent to all but a few large commercial consumers, it has been announced. The rate adjustment went into effect January 1.

In December of 1949 the rate structure was revised and adjusted downward about 10 per cent. This makes the second year in which there has been a cut in taxes.

Manager William C. Wenner of the Cambridge Springs office made the announcement of the rate adjustment in the office monthly news letter. He said the main features of it are:

"1—The regular monthly minimum for all who are billed on the farm and home and commercial rate schedules will be reduced from $2.75 to $2. This change was made to relieve the burden carried by some few members who are unable to use the 43 kilowatt-hours allowed for the $2.75 minimum, and also as an attraction and incentive to the folks who live along the line and have never taken service.

"2—The monthly minimum to be charged churches, schools and public buildings will be reduced from $1.50 to $1.

"3—A special water heater rate has been adopted reducing the cost of electric water heater with approved equipment considerably.

"4—A demand charge has been added in the commercial rate. This will effect only those customers requiring more than 10 kilowatts of demand, and adds a demand charge of $2 per kilowatt-hour about 10 kilowatts to the former rate."

The REA board of directors decided to make the rate reduction after careful analysis of the financial status of the co-operative and of the present needs and requirements of the members.

Fishing And Camp Booklets Will Be Issued In February

"Fishing Accommodations in Pennsylvania" and "Summer Camps in Pennsylvania" two booklets published annually by the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce vacation and recreation division, will be ready for free distribution about mid-February, it was announced today.

Both booklets steadily gain in popularity with fishermen, and with parents planning summer vacations for their youngsters, as evidenced by the yearly increase in demands. At the approach of hunting season, the division also publishes "Hunting Accommodations in Pennsylvania."

The fishing booklet lists fishing areas, the kinds of fish which may be caught, numerous homes, camps, hotels and lodges where anglers may obtain food and lodging, a digest of the State fish laws, names and addresses, of fish wardens, and other information of interest and value to fishermen.

The summer camp booklet contains names and addresses of Pennsylvania's camps for boys and girls, names of directors or persons to contact for additional information, and other material of interest to parents in planning where to send their children for camping experiences and educational vacations.

Evidence from Swiss lake dwelling units indicate that men were herding sheep in 8,250 B. C. and that the occupation was ancient even then.

Warren Lagging In Organizing Boro For Block Rosary

Warren is far behind in adopting the neighborly custom of reciting the Block Rosary, local promoters admit. Throughout the State of Pennsylvania and the entire nation the Rosary has been recited in small groups for several years.

Those who initiated the movement had in mind that all prayers would be offered for the peace of the world and especially for help for the people of Russia that they might be freed from the bondage in which they are held by the atheistic communist political party.

One of those interested in the project said today:

"All promoters of the Block Rosary have come to the realization that the diplomats of all nations have done all that possibly can be accomplished to preserve peace and the only course left is for the people to pray as they have never prayed before."

"Those interested in community prayers point out that we have had the League of Nations, and now the United Nations, but justice between nations is as far distant as ever. They also state that every statesman, of any importance, in all countries, have tried to tell us how peace could be attained, but their speeches and writings have only led to more confusion."

MENU SUGGESTIONS

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

NONFAT dry milk is one of the cheapest sources of essential high quality protein. To keep the cost of your meat protein lower, combine nonfat dry milk with meat and other expensive proteins.

Golden Waffles

(6 waffles)

Two cups sifted flour, 1/2 cup nonfat dry milk, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons sugar, 2 eggs, separated, 1 1/2 cups water, 6 tablespoons melted butter.

Sift flour, nonfat dry milk, baking powder, salt and sugar. Combine well-beaten egg yolks, water and slightly cooled melted butter. Pour into dry ingredients and mix well. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in moderately hot waffle iron until lightly browned, about 4 minutes. Serve warm with butter, cream and sugar, or your favorite syrup.

Tender Braised Liver

(4 servings)

One and one-half cups water, 6 tablespoons nonfat dry milk, 1 lb. liver, cut in 3/4-inch slices, salt, pepper, 1/2 cup flour, about 1/4 cup butter, 3/4 cup thinly sliced onions. Sprinkle nonfat dry milk over water in small bowl. Beat until about blended. Pour over liver and allow to soak 1 hour. Drain liver well, reserving liquefied nonfat dry milk for gravy. Sprinkle each slice of liver with salt and pepper. Dredge in flour. Melt 2 tablespoons butter in heavy 10-inch frying pan. Brown liver over medium heat on both sides.

Remove from pan. Add remaining butter and onions and cook until tender. Return liver to pan; cover and cook over low heat 15 minutes. Remove liver from pan; keep warm. Blend 2 tablespoons flour into onions. Slowly stir in liquefied nonfat dry milk used for soaking liver. Season to taste with salt. Cook over low heat until thickened. Pour over liver and serve very hot.

MONDAY'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Orange juice, corn flakes, poached eggs on toast, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Tomato and juice, golden waffles with crisp bacon, butter or fortified margarine, maple syrup, tea, milk.

DINNER: Tender braised liver, parsley boiled potatoes, buttered green beans, enriched bread, butter or fortified margarine, mixed green salad, French dressing, fruit cup, frosted cup cakes, coffee, milk.

Plenty Of Action Looked For Tonight In "Y" City League

The new month should open with lots of action in the Y City League tonight, when the Ramblers move against the Rockets at 7 o'clock and the Style Shop facing the Youngsville Merchants at 8.

Both the Ramblers and Youngsville have looked at defeat twice in previous meetings with their tonight's opponents and will be seeking comebacks. The Ramblers, relying chiefly on height, will have the advantage over the Rockets in that line, but will have to be up to par to down the up-and-coming five. Sporting a current record of 10 wins and one defeat, the league leading Stylists shouldn't have too much trouble handling the Merchants.

Such a loss for Youngsville would knock them into third place out of an extended two-way tie in the second position with Atlantic, leaving the Rockets and Ramblers in fourth and fifth place despite a victory either way.

Bill Weidert, Atlantic, hit for 17 points to Jim Peterson's 14, Monday night, to close up some of the gap the league's scoring ace is holding over him. Peterson, a member of the fourth place Ramblers, now has 189 points scored in 12 games for an average of 15 1/2 points per game.

In second place, Weidert has scored 160 points in 11 games for a 14 6/11 point game average, and Don Baldensperger, New Process is third with 13 1/11 average, average, 144 points scored in a similar amount of games.

Phalanx Fraternity Drops 4th Straight To Corry Cagers

"Al's" Clothes Shop, of Corry, knocked off the Phalanx Fraternity floormen 56-37 at the YMCA last night, as the local team bowed to its fourth straight loss.

The Frat boys matched their opponents score 11 up in the second period, but were outscored in each of the other three quarters.

Prisina and Hughes took individual scoring honors for Corry, with 18 and 17 points respectively, while Ralph Hoffman hit for 13 counters to head the Phalanx.

Basketball Leaders Face High Hurdles In Closing Weeks

Harrisburg, Feb. 1—(P)—Most of today's schoolboy basketball leaders face high hurdles in the final month of their race to gain the Pennsylvania inter-district playoffs.

Very few first-half flag claimants can look forward to clear sailing in the second round. And most of the loops not operating under the split-season set-up are without an outstanding leader.

Two exceptions are Bradford and Mahanoy City, the state's last two unbeaten class A teams.

Bradford is alone in the Northern tier of district nine while Mahanoy City overshadows the rest of the black diamond circuit.

The Central Penn conference first round titlist will be decided tomorrow night at the Hershey arena when defending champion York meets Lebanon in the play-off battle. Both teams ended the first-half with 6-1 records after the Cedars handed York its first loss.

District 10 has a merry mixup of teams vying for the title. Titusville, Oil City and Meadville are tied for the section two lead following Titusville's 60-49 defeat of Oil City Tuesday night. Meadville dumped Hickory, defending district champion and section three leader, 47-38.

Tomorrow night's action finds Meadville meeting Oil City and Titusville entertaining Warren.

Section one has Erie Academy and Erie Tech sharing the top spot. Tech can pull a half game ahead by knocking off strong Vincent tomorrow night.

"Y" JUNIORS HAVE MEET AT BRADFORD

The Warren "Y" junior swimming team will journey to Bradford Saturday afternoon for a swimming meet against the Bradford "Y" team. The local juniors defeated Bradford last year by a score of 25 to 23. All members are reminded to gather at the "Y" at 12:30 noon Saturday.

Greene's Set New Scoring Record In "Y" Junior League

G. G. Greenes wound up their 1950-51 season in the Y Junior League yesterday afternoon, when they racked up a 104-36 score over Alpha Hi-Y. The score set a season record in either league so far and also gave Greenes a clean record of six straight wins.

The final league game will be played next Monday when the Beta Hi-Y meets the Rangers, who have suffered five consecutive defeats.

Carmen Colosimo set a blistering pace of 32 points for Greenes, Tommy Thompson and Chuck Fisher each scoring 20, while John Stohl picked up 14 to lead the losers.

Bradford Cagers Win Close Game From League Team

Nichols Clothiers, of Bradford staged a last quarter rally of 25 points over Smith and Lawton Atlantic last night, to edge the Warrenites 74-73 on the victors home floor.

The Y League team had racked up a 19 point lead in the early part of third period over their opponent, before blowing up in the last quarter, as the Bradford five whittled the margin to 71-70 with a minute remaining.

Piganelli scored to put Bradford in the lead for the first time in the game. Then Evans popped another one to put the game on ice, 74-71, before Bill Weidert, Atlantic, countered the last score to leave a one point margin.

Small Crowd Sees Ike Williams Beat Cardell To A TKO

Detroit, Feb. 1—(P)—Lightweight champ Ike Williams, a busy little bee except where title fights are concerned, tucked a small purse of $2,080 in his wallet today as a reminder of his one-sided out with young Vic Cardell last night.

A small turnout of 2,603 fans—held down by heavy snowstorm—paid a gross gate of only $4,464.39 at Olympia Stadium to see the champ batter Cardell almost at will for a ninth round TKO.

Cardell, his left eye closed and his right eye cut, was unable to answer the bell for the ninth in the scheduled 10-round.

Surprisingly enough, it was the vanquished Cardell who got the plaudits of the crowd which saw him take everything Williams could throw.

Williams sulking since the National Boxing Association threatened Saturday to take his title away if he doesn't defend it by March 31, took out some of his wrath on the luckless Cardell.

The 23-year-old Connecticut fighter, who had a two pound advantage at 145, was a 4-1 underdog. Betting was 3-1 that he would not last five rounds.

Cardell fooled the "wise money" boys, however. He survived a blistering attack hat left both eyes damaged, his nose reddened and his stomach sore.

On the verge of a knockout several times, Cardell fought back gamely. He never was knocked off his feet.

LONG ISLAND LOSES THIRD STRAIGHT GAME

Manhattan, Kas., Feb. 1—(P)—The Long Island University Blackbirds are singing the blues today.

Just eight days ago they cheerfully began a road trip west—undefeated and with 15 straight victories.

But today they possess three straight defeats—the last one an 85 to 65 drubbing administered last night by the Kansas State Wildcats.

LIU's coach Clair Bee had only praise for K-State.

AIR POWER—In one of the biggest dogfights of Korean campaign, just south of Sinuiju (1), American jets bagged at least four Russian-made jets without suffering a casualty. B-29's then blasted airfields and anti-aircraft gun emplacements in Pongyang area (2). Column of 2500 North Korean troops, south of Andong (3), had spearheaded up to 60 miles behind U. S. 8th Army's central-Korea lines and were driving (broken arrow) for Taegu, 50 miles south. On east-central front, Allied task force remained in control of Wonju (4) and its airstrip.

Scientist Takes Oil Apart To See Its Compounds
Pittsburgh.—(P)—Back in 1928 a government scientist began taking oil apart to see what various compounds it contains.

Now nearly 25 years and 500 barrels of oil later, he has broken the components of petroleum (crude oil) into 17 separate samples and is still hard at work looking for more components—and samples.

The hard-working scientist is Dr. Frederick D. Rossini, now head of the department of chemistry at the Carnegie Institute of Technology.

His staff is trying to extract samples of the hundreds of other component parts still locked in the oil, and comes up with new ones at the rate of 10 to 12 a year. The samples are highly important to the oil industry in determining the content of petroleum from various sources, and making the greatest possible use of it.

It's the only project of its kind in the world.

This task in pure research doesn't directly put a penny in anyone's pocket. But indirectly, its benefits will help all users of oil—and that means everybody.

To a chemist, crude oil is made up mainly of chemical compounds he calls hydrocarbons. Hydrocarbons are various combinations of the elements hydrogen and carbon. There are many kinds of hydrocarbons in oil since atoms of hydrogen and carbons form unions in many different ways.

Dr. Rossini began the big job in 1928 with 50 gallons of average grade crude oil taken from a well near Ponca City, Okla., while he was associated with the United States Bureau of Standards. Last July, he moved to Carnegie Tech and brought his project with him in six heavily laden trucks.

His job has two parts. One is to find all the compounds that exist in crude oil, devise the best means of extracting them and make standard samples for use all over the world.

The samples are important to scientists because they can be used as guides. For instance, if a researcher wanted to know if XYZ hydrocarbon was in petroleum fraction he was testing, he first would have to know what XYZ hydrocarbon was. A sample from Carnegie Tech would give him the information he needed.

The other part of the project is to collect all the facts found out about petroleum components and make the information available to all industry.

Over the years, the facts amassed have helped industry produce more and better things from crude oil and its by-products. The information has helped in the production of such things as synthetic rubber, plastic and high octane gasoline to name just a few.

After 800,000 man-hours of research, the standard samples extracted have reached a total worth of about $500,000. Yet if some vandal were to dump them all into a common barrel, they would be worth only about 30 cents mixed together.
